

DIGITAL RISKS ARE REAL

CYBER LIABILITY INSURANCE

Digital technology has brought your business incredible benefits in terms of productivity, connectivity, and automation, but it comes with the responsibility to manage and protect the data you process, your reputation and your intellectual property. No matter your strategy, there's no complete defence against a cyber security breach, which can cause untold damage and be extremely expensive to resolve.

That's why Cyber Liability Insurance should be a critical part of your total cyber defence.

Cyber Liability Insurance protects small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) against liabilities arising from breaches of data protection laws, management of personal data and the consequences of losing information worldwide. The loss of corporate information and individual data, could severely disadvantage a business.

With network attacks and security becoming a significant global issue, we cover you for direct first-party losses such as recovering lost, stolen or destroyed data, notification, monitoring and forensic investigation expenses and loss of revenue.
