

WAGE AND HOUR LIABILITY

Wage and hour disputes impact companies of all sizes, and continue to garner media attention due to their frequency of occurrence and the costs associated with them. United States employment laws require strict compliance, including the correct classification of employees and accurate payment of wages. Employees who bring actions against their employers and win can recover double the actual damages, plus attorneys' fees.

Employment Practices Liability (EPL) policies do not provide protection for Wage and Hour claims. Allied World is one of only a few carriers that offer Wage and Hour Liability Insurance for both defense costs and indemnity on a dedicated basis. This coverage is available on both a Primary and Excess basis and can be blended into a traditional EPL policy.
